I chose ESMT to change my career and industry by going into the digital, fast-paced, and international start-up scene. Currently, I am working in one of the most innovative and growing companies, Marley Spoon, in the food-tech industry. Thanks to the MBA degree at ESMT Berlin, I was able to secure a global leadership position. Berlin has a vibrant and innovative startup scene environment that gives you a lot of professional and learning opportunities.”

Head of Accounting at Marley Spoon

“The ESMT Career Services Team was there for us from the start of our studies – putting on regular workshops and events to help us learn about the local job market and potential employers, training us to write strong job applications and even offering mock interviews to help us practice our skills. The assignment of a professional career coach was also an immensely valuable experience that assisted me in honing my next career steps and allowed me to learn more about myself in the process. The personal touch because of our small class size allowed the team to get to know us personally and provide individual support and encouragement along the way.”
