DigitalFuture Summit 2021 at ESMT Berlin: Leaders and students discuss digital future

The DigitalFuture Summit will take place July 8-9, 2021 at ESMT Berlin. The two-day conference is hosted by Master in Management students in an online format and offers executives from global companies and innovative startups, talented students, and experts from academia an assortment of discussion and networking opportunities, as well as interesting future career possibilities.

More than 30 leading companies will participate in this year's DigitalFuture Summit, including ABInBev, Hubert Burda Media, Daimler, Henkel, Roche, and SAP. In various panel discussions, workshops, and masterclasses, company leaders and students will come together to discuss digitalization and future-oriented topics:

- Health: How do we ensure public wellbeing?
- Mobility: How do we get to where we need to be?
- Information: How are we distributing knowledge?
- Work: How are we maneuvering remote environments?
- Sustainability: How do we continuously address environmental challenges?
- Technology: How do digital solutions reshape industries and life?

In keynotes, Daniel Kalanovic, Medical Lead & Managing Director of Pfizer Germany, David Wang, Chief Representative Office of Huawei Technologies Germany, and Barbara Wittmann, Country Manager of LinkedIn DACH, will provide insights on career planning in the virtual world, medical breakthroughs in the pandemic, and innovation coming from the crisis.

"The DigitalFuture Summit offers students the opportunity to expand their career network and discuss with interesting personalities from the digital and global economy," says Linde Wang, Chair of the DigitalFuture Summit. "At the same time, participating executives benefit from the large talent pool and have the opportunity to meet promising candidates for their companies."
